CIRCULAR ROUTE OF THE SIERRA DE SANTO DOMINGO RANGE

61,2 km

1560 m

100% Forest track

Longás

A very panoramic route, suggested by LongasBTT, that goes round both sides of the Sierra de Santo Domingo range.

The route starts in Longás, heading north, and climbs a road followed by a dirt track that climbs up to the Salafuentes shelter. Then, the route follows a short descent and another climb toward the Cerro de Fontanizas, in the border between the Cinco Villas and the Hoya de Huesca regions, along the northern slope of the mountain range.

Here you can enjoy beautiful views of the Pyrenees to later descend toward Pardina Ferrera (do not enter the private property) in the Villalangua valley. After crossing a metal door, the route diverts to the right and climbs toward the Villalangua hill, the most demanding ascent in the route. Once you reach the top, you will continue along the southern slope which offers amazing views of the Rallas de la Osqueta. Then, the route turns west toward the Farriguelo shelter, the Fardoyas shelter, and the Fayanás hill. After passing the cattle grin of the hill, the route turns right and climbs toward the Portillo de Longás, passing under the imposing slopes of the Tablao. Once you reach the top of the Portillo, after a tough climb, the route continues along the northern slope and descends toward Longás across Plana de Lucientes.
